CONTENTS

PREFACE AND ACKNOWLEDGMENTS ...................................................................................... vii

MICHAEL BASSELER, DANIEL HARTLEY, ANSGAR NÜNNING
‘Forms of Life’ as a Travelling Concept in Literary and Cultural Studies ............... 1

I. CONCEPTUAL AND THEORETICAL FRAMEWORKS: EMERGENT FORMS OF LIFE
AS A PROBLEM OF CROSS-DISCIPLINARY RESEARCH

MARGIT GAFFAL
Form of Life as a Philosophical Concept ........................................................................... 27

ANGELA LOCATELLI
Constructing and Deconstructing ‘Forms of Life’: Life in Literature and the Life of Literature ........................................................................................................ 39

ANSGAR NÜNNING
Experiments in Life: Literary and Cultural Studies as a Form of Life Science .... 53

MICHAEL BASSELER
Emerging Forms of Life in Literary Fiction:
From Narrative Techniques to Genres ........................................................................... 75

PHILIPP LÖFFLER
Expert Authority: Post-WWII American Literature and the Production of Intellectual Life .................................................................................................................. 97

STELLA BUTTER
Contingency, Forms of Life, and Fiction: The Role(s) of Literature in the Process of Modernization ....................................................................................... 119

VERA NÜNNING
Literature – Narrative – Forms of Life .............................................................................. 141

DANIEL HARTLEY
Style as Structure of Feeling: Emergent Forms of Life in the Theory of Raymond Williams and George Saunders’ Tenth of December ............................. 163
II: INNOVATIVE NARRATIVES AND EMERGENT FORMS OF LIFE IN CONTEMPORARY NARRATIVE FICTION

CHRISTINE SCHWANECKE
Forming Lives through Art Production and Political Agency: The Quests for Meaning and Change in Paul Auster’s Leviathan ..................... 185

ELIZABETH KOVACH
(Im)passive Forms of Globalized Labor, Life, and Literature: Dave Eggers’ A Hologram for the King .......................................................... 199

NATALYA BEKHTA
Novel ‘Forms of Life’ – Collective Voices in Narrative Fiction: China Miéville’s Embassytown and Chang-rae Lee’s On Such a Full Sea ............................. 215

ANNE RÜGGEMEIER
J. M. Coetzee’s Summertime – Breaking the Rules of a Genre to Create a Space for Broken Narratives ................................................... 231

SNEŽANA VULETIC
Generating ‘Trans-Language’ in Nigerian Anglophone Literature: Chimamanda Ngozi Adichie’s Purple Hibiscus .................................................. 247

IOANNA KIPOUROU
Gardening as a Form of Life: Space and Language in Jamaica Kincaid’s My Garden ................................................................. 259

JULIA MICHAEL
Culturally Specific Forms of Life in Canadian Mennonite Writing .................. 273

SABINE SCHÖNFELLNER
The Human Being and the Storytelling Animal: Towards a New Form of Human Life in Margaret Atwood’s Oryx and Crake Trilogy ..................... 285

ALEXANDER SCHERR
Understanding Biological Form(ation)s of Life: Incommensurabilities of Life and Human Observation in E. O. Wilson’s Anthill: A Novel ................ 295